Description

We seek one person to support the day-to-day operations of our advanced electronics laboratory, with duties such as the repair and/or design of digital and analog electronics, selection of materials/components to be purchased, project-related internal and external reporting. Degree from University School of Sciences or Engineering, with basic background in European Research Projects. The candidate will participate in the R&D activities of FORTH in the context of the project EPI: "European Processor Initiative". The EPI SGA1 project will be the first phase of the European Processor Initiative Framework Partnership Agreement, whose aim is to design and implement a roadmap for a new family of low-power European processors for extreme scale computing, high-performance Big-Data and a range of emerging applications.

Requirements:

- University degree from School of Sciences or Engineering
- At least 2 years of experience in European Research Projects
- At least three professional references (name, mobile, email)
- Very good knowledge of English. (B2 Level)
- Physical presence at FORTH, Heraklion, Crete for the duration of the position.
- Willingness and ability to work cooperatively within a team, to learn, and to adapt to the projects.

- Completion, or final exception from, mandatory military service. (For male candidates only).

Desired qualifications:

- Experience with Analog PCB design and verification, using Cadence Capture Cis and Allegro
- Experience in creation of PCB constraints related to materials

Application Submission

Interested candidates can submit their applications via <http://www.ics.forth.gr/jobs/en/> using the link “Apply for the position” under the announcement. Applications must include:

- Detailed CV, including qualifications and interests in the above areas, and proof thereof
- Scanned copies of academic titles

Promising candidates may be invited for an interview before a decision is made.
